Cutting-edge teaching methodology

Methodology

Dilit International House was one of the first schools to adopt a fully communicative approach to the teaching of Italian, and the approach is being up-dated all the time.
Language is never presented out of context; and grammar, phonology, lexis and all other features of actual language use in everyday situations are analysed.
A wide variety of up-to-date authentic material is used in class, thus giving students valuable information about modern-day Italian culture and society at the same time as developing students' authentic linguistic and communicative skills. Our teachers, who have been teaching in the school for an average of 12 years, have been selected from special training courses, and they are further required to take part every month in teacher education seminars.

LEVELS - EXAMS

In common with most quality language providers in Europe, Dilit International House has set its course levels against the descriptors of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEF).
This is a system of levels developed under the auspices of the Council of Europe in order to bring uniformity to language descriptions and levels. This scale gives a short description of what learners can normally do at each of 6 levels (A1 to C2). The time it takes to learn to use a foreign language varies from person to person. Apart from the varying amount of time spent on home-study, other factors come into play such as individual aptitude, the distance between the foreign language and your native tongue or other languages previously learnt, the opportunity to practise the language with native speakers, and so on. The time presented in the chart below should therefore only be taken as a rough guide to the number of lessons needed to reach a particular level when starting off from beginner's level.

CILS A2 - CELI IMPATTO - BASE IT - DILIT A2

ITALIAN THROUGH ART & CULTURE

Each of these courses seeks to offer those interested the opportunity to improve their Italian whilst learning about one of the following Art & Culture topics.
Students, who have an adequate level of Italian, can attend one (or more) of these courses.
However, our advice is to combine the attendance of one (or more) of these courses with attendance of a general intensive language course (group intensive 20 lessons per week), thus getting the utmost out of their time here.

Italian through Architecture

The course analyses the artistic and architectural testimonies of the city, which, more than any other in the world, is a veritable open-air museum: Rome. From 753 A.D. up until today: via walks and colour slides, students learn about "visible" architecture (buildings, churches and parks) as well as "invisible" architecture, made up of priceless EMPTY urban places: the most beautiful squares in the world. We will trace the lives and works of the most important architects of the past and present who have left indelible marks on the lives of the Roman people; we will talk about ancient history, medieval history, the Renaissance, the Baroque period and the contemporary period. The various architectural styles will be compared and each student, using the tools they prefer, will choose a monument, an area, a church, or a building to produce a little Photographic and Theoretical Research about it.

After the first week of study and theoretical examination of all sorts of techniques, the students (in group or individually) choose a topic (fashion, art, society, animals, journalism, etc.) to examine, first of all by analysis, on-site observation and rough drafts and then by the creation of a veritable "Photo Report Book" based on the city of Rome.
